

Which room in the house uses the most water?

Answer: Bathroom

What should you do if you see a leaking tap at school?

Answer: Tell a teacher

What is the standard unit for measuring volumes of water?

Answer: Litre or megalitre

Should you use a hose or use a broom to clean the garden path?

Answer: Broom

Are you allowed to water your lawn with a sprinkler at 1 pm?

Answer: No

Are you allowed to water the garden with greywater at 1 pm?

Answer: Yes

Can you use your bath water to water the garden?

Answer: Yes

To save water, would you use mulch in the laundry, the garden or the classroom?

Answer: Garden

How is water lost in open channel irrigation systems?

Answer: Evaporation, leakage or seepage

What is the name of the process that removes impurities and contaminants from water at the treatment plant?

Answer: Filtration

Why is water disinfected at the treatment plant?

Answer: To kill germs

Where can water be stored after it is treated?

Answer: Water tower

What is the name of a solid lump that forms in a sewer system that is made of congealed fat, cleansing wipes and products that should not be flushed down a toilet?

Answer: Fatberg

Does watering plants during the early morning or evening result in less water evaporation from the garden than if you watered during the middle of the day?

Answer: Yes

Do the people working at the water treatment plant monitor the quality of the water?

Answer: Yes

How is water transported from the local water tower to homes and businesses?

Answer: Through pipes

